about reading

Learning to read begins at birth

"Everyone wants to do the best for their baby. Looking at books with your child every day is one of the most important things you can do for her/his future. Sharing books together strengthens your child's foundation for learning.

Pointing at pictures in a book, saying rhymes, singing songs, writing words, and playing together makes your child more ready for school. Your baby's ability to learn grows from interacting with you, not a screen or educational toy.

Plant the seed for lifelong learning by growing a reading relationship with your baby."

Who may participate?

1,000 Books before Kindergarten is free and open to any child from birth until he or she enters kindergarten.

Children currently enrolled in 4K are still eligible to participate.

Parents or caregivers must have a library card. If you do not have a library card, it is easy to sign up for one.

How does it work?

To receive your free start up kit, visit the library and sign up on the following days:

Monday 11:30 am to 7:00 pm

Tuesday 11:00 am to 5:30 pm

Friday 10:00 am to 1:00 pm

Record each book you and your child read together on your reading log.

You may read the same book multiple times and you may also count books heard at story time, daycare, and school.

After completely filling in a page (100 books per page), bring your reading log to the library to receive a milestone sticker.

In recognition of your reading achievements, your child will earn a book to keep at the 100, 300, 600, and 800 book levels.

A free T-shirt will be given to each child who reaches the 1,000 book goal.

If you read just one book a day with your child, you'll reach 1,000 books in less than three years.
